

Rekindle the Fire! Annual Diocesan Ultreya ▪ October 5th

The Bishop Claggett Center will be the place to be on Saturday, October 5th as we hold our annual Diocesan Ultreya from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be music, talks, discussion, lunch; and time to rekindle old friendships, make new ones, and relight the fire that you felt after your Cursillo weekend.

We are blessed to have the praise band from St. Margaret's, Annapolis, leading us in music. Talks from Cursillistas on Piety, Study, and Action will be shared as part of the Ultreya, and you will have an opportunity to share "echoes" if you like. Then we will all gather for lunch and return for the "State of Cursillo" update, worship, and commissioning of the MD105 team.

So, get your team shirts out of the moth balls and come in full regalia. If you plan to attend, please RSVP to Fran Nicholls at memenicholls@aol.com or 301-992-1498. A donation of $20 is appreciated to help defray expenses.

It's a beautiful time of year to be at Claggett, enjoy fellowship with Cursillistas, lift your voices in song, and spend some time as a community in prayer and praise. Hope to see you there! Ultreya!

MARYLAND EPISCOPAL CURSILLO WEEKEND 105

"Call on Jesus" October 24 - 27, 2013

What an honor it is to have been called to serve as rector of MD 105! And, what a blessing that a wonderful core team and enthusiastic musicians, CHAs and table leaders have answered the call to join me. Clearly the Holy Spirit has been at work in the hearts of these servants and will guide us as we begin our meetings to plan for the weekend.

The entire team hopes you will keep us in your prayers and we hope you will give prayerful consideration to sponsoring a member of your parish who might benefit from sharing with us as we Call on Jesus.

Election at the Diocesan Ultreya ▪ October 5th

Elections for the new Assistant Lay Director will be held during the Annual Diocesan Ultreya on October 5th at The Bishop Claggett Center. Below is a brief biography from David Wissmann, MD 89, who has offered himself for consideration as Assistant Lay Director. In the absence of any additional nominations from the floor on the day, the community will affirm David's service in this leadership position.

Candidate for Assistant Lay Director – David Wissmann, MD 89

I can honestly say my faith was forever changed after attending Cursillo Weekend MD 89. I sat at the Prince of Peace table, and have continued to be active in my support of Cursillo as the 4th Day Coordinator. I have accepted the calling to weekends 92, 94, 101, 103, 104 and have served as Cha, Table Leader, and Assistant Rector. I have felt blessed to have been part of team planning for many first experiences for the MD Cursillo including the first to use Monocacy, the first time to use the cottages, and most recently the men's weekend. I have also had the privilege of serving on two teams with Bishop Sutton and survived Weekends with a snow storm and one with a hurricane/tropical storm. And through it all, I have never experienced anything that has strengthened my spirituality the way Cursillo has each and every time.

I have been an active member of St. Andrew's Parish, Pasadena, MD, for over 10 years, and have served as Junior Warden and as Vestry member, developed and led youth programs, filed grant applications, taught Sunday School and Vacation Bible school and am currently the Charter Organization Representative for Boy Scouts of America Troop 870 at St. Andrew's.

Through Cursillo, I have grown to know that our Savior is always beside and within us. It truly is our daily distractions that break the bond we all so intimately experience on our weekends. In developing a deeper relationship with the Lord, I realize I must commit to what I believe is the most intimate joy of Christianity, a personal relationship with Christ. I have felt a calling to pay forward the beautiful gift Cursillo has shared with me, and as we affirm during a team commissioning - Christ is counting on us - I affirm as I step forward in answer to this calling, and I on Christ!

— Ultreya,
David Wissmann, MD 89

A Statement from the National Episcopal Cursillo, May 2008

Cursillo has always kept its eyes firmly focused on Jesus and on the Mission. One of the principles of the Cursillo movement is that:

We focus on Christ and His resurrection power in our lives, transforming us into the people He would have us be.
 Theological disputes and political issues have no part in our agenda.

The Cursillo Movement is a movement that brings together all people, whether they might consider themselves to have a liberal or conservative Christian philosophy or somewhere in between, for the common good of promoting Jesus Christ and God's Mission. It is Christ-centered and Christ-focused. The Policy of the National Episcopal Cursillo Committee is that it will not be an organization with a political or social agenda.

National Episcopal Cursillo is a movement of the Episcopal Church.

We recognize, however, that a number of individuals with connections and interest in the Episcopal Cursillo Movement are no longer affiliated with the Episcopal Church. As a sign of reconciliation, we welcome those still able, as individuals, to be in communion with the local Episcopal Diocesan Bishop and fellow Cursillistas, whether lay or ordained, to participate in the activities of the Cursillo Movement. Furthermore, and always at the Diocesan Bishop's discretion, we encourage an openness to their continued participation and interest in the activities of the Episcopal Cursillo. It should be understood by all that as a part of their participation, they agree to do so fully for the advancement of Cursillo, be supportive of the mission of Episcopal Cursillo, and agree that they will not promote any political agenda.

What is clear is that National Episcopal Cursillo was created to serve the Episcopal Church in the United States, and we are licensed by the Roman Catholic Church to do that. Despite our personal theological and political views, we are focused on knowing Christ and making Him known to others. That is our call and in doing it lays our greatest joy. Ultreya! Ultreya!! Let us get on with the day's apostolic action. Let us all pray for the Church and one another everyday.

Witness Talk - Evangelization of Environments

My name is Tony Hiatt, and I'm from Fort Worth, Texas. I'd like to talk with you for a few minutes today about how the experience of being a Cursillista has changed the way that I interact with my environment, and how that environment is being transformed.

I'm convinced that there are two kinds of Cursillistas – those who can't wait to go on a Cursillo weekend, and those that go kicking and screaming. I was definitely the kicking -and-screaming type. I made my Cursillo 3-1/2 years ago; my wife had been on a Emmaus Walk, had loved it, and subsequently worked on me for a couple of years before I finally relented and agreed to go on a weekend so she wouldn't pester me about it anymore. You probably can guess the rest of the story – it was a life-changing experience, so much so that now, 3-1/2 years later, I'm a seminary student on the path toward ordination to the priesthood.

Even though I'm in seminary, I've kept my day job. I'm an engineer with a company in Dallas which builds railroad cars. After I came back from my weekend, I started to think about what I could do to change my environment; of course, I was energized and full of the Holy Spirit, so on Monday morning I immediately sought out a coworker who I knew was an Episcopalian, and said to him, "I met a friend of yours this weekend, and we both think that you need to go to Cursillo!" Well, as you can imagine, this wasn't a particularly effective approach. I needed to back off and let the Holy Spirit work in its own way rather than in my way.

One of the things I started to do was intentionally working on developing my relationships with my coworkers, and things began to happen that I wasn't expecting. I had always been very private about my spiritual life, but once I had perceived a call to ordained ministry and begun my seminary studies, I found myself looking for opportunities to share my faith – not in a confrontational manner, but as the Holy Spirit provided openings, I took advantage of them. An unexpected result was that many of my co-workers began to share their faith with me as well.

Now, working on changing your environment in Dallas is a little bit different than in other parts of the country. We're in the middle of the Bible Belt, and honestly, there aren't too many people that you encounter in the workplace that don't belong to some type of faith community. Changing one's environment in that type of setting means building bridges between different strands of our own faith –finding our common ground and building on it rather than concentrating on areas in which we disagree.

There are three people in particular who I would like to tell you about today in this context. The first is a man whom I have known for many years. He was one of the first people I got to know when I took my current job twelve years ago; in fact, he invited me to his church one Sunday before my family had moved to join me. His church is the Church of Christ, a very conservative denomination, which is quite common in Texas. I went to church with him, but it certainly wasn't my cup of tea; he and I remained friends, but it was only after I had been to Cursillo that our relationship began to really blossom. Because I became open to him on his terms, and in turn made myself open to him, we have become very close; we have lunch weekly, share our hopes and concerns, and keep each other in our prayers.

The second person whom I have grown close to is a lady who is rather new to our company; she is a second-career engineer and a single mother, and is also a member of the Church of Christ. While we were on a business trip together shortly after she was hired, she noticed the books which I had in my backpack from seminary; when she asked about them, the door was opened for my being able to share my spiritual journey with her. This has been a blessing for both of us; when our daughter was experiencing a particularly difficult time in her life, my friend was able to share her experiences in a similar situation, which helped my wife and me to be better able to understand and help our daughter.

The third person who I've been led to share my experience with is a man with whom I have worked very closely for the past several years. I also had an opportunity to share my faith with him when we were on a business trip.

Witness Talk - Gospel Response

I'm not sure exactly where he is on his faith journey, but every once in a while he will make a comment or ask me a question which sparks a theological discussion. I don't push anything on him, but I am sure to make it clear to him that I am available and open to what he is seeking.

The biggest thing that I notice as I reflect on the development of these relationships in my workplace is the change in myself. BC – that is, "Before Cursillo", I completely compartmentalized my spiritual and secular lives. My faith was something that was experienced away from work. By doing this, though, I wasn't allowing my faith to be available to those in my workplace environment. Things are different now. The funny thing is that it's not like I set out to make a plan to evangelize my environment – it has sprung from the way in which I now lead my life in a natural and organic way. These things are happening far beyond my ability to influence them or my understanding of what is taking place – God is working through me without my even being aware of it.

I used to just build trains – now I'm also building relationships, through the power of the Holy Spirit.

Gospel Response

Tony's lay witness talk tells us how important relationships and community are to our lives as disciples. Jesus felt that discipleship in community was so important that He called disciples to be and stay in community. Scripture is full of examples of Jesus' instructions to the disciples about unity and community. For example, when Jesus sent the 70 out on a mission trip, he sent them in pairs so that they would have support for the work of ministry; and when they returned from their trip Jesus gathered them together to recount their successes and failures. In a way, the model Jesus used is a lot like group reunions and Ultreyas. In group reunion, we hold each other accountable for our actions and inactions as we walk together in ministry; and in the larger gathering of Ultreya we come back from our various "mission trips" and share our successes and failures so that we can be lifted up and renewed to continue the work Jesus gave us to do.

Look at the steps of our own lives, first we commit to Jesus as disciples and almost immediately Jesus tells us to become a community and to share that sense of joy and love with others. In John's gospel, chapter 13 verses 34 & 35, Jesus says, "I give you a new commandment, that you love one another. Just as I have loved you, you also should love one another. By this everyone will know that you are my disciples, if you have love for one another." Love is what brings us into community and it is what holds us together as the body of Christ, the Church. Love and community and the actions we take to share Christ's love with others are how we live our 4th day. Each day brings us opportunities to share Christ's love with others and as Tony reminds us, we have to build a relationship with those around us in order to show them and tell them the good news of God's love.

Later in the gospel of John, Jesus promises to send us the Advocate, the Holy Spirit, who will equip us to testify to God's love (John 15:26). Living out our 4th day is to be part of a community of faith who support and love each other. In this way through reunion groups and Ultreyas, we live out the gospel message by word and deed in a community of Jesus' disciples. Follow Tony's example, build loving relationships with those whom God places in your environments and share the word of God with them; but remember it is important that we live out our 4th day in community by our own actions and we get the support we need through group reunions and Ultreyas - Jesus never sends us out alone to do the work of ministry. Ultreya!

STEWARDSHIP

Maryland Episcopal Cursillo

c/o Church of the Ascension,

23 North Court Street, Westminster, MD 21157

June 17, 2013

Dear Cursillista,

We have recently completed our 104th Cursillo weekend in Maryland thanks to the support of our faithful Maryland Cursillistas and your willingness to share your time, talent, and treasure with the Cursillo movement. Because of you and the enthusiastic support from Bishop Sutton, the Diocese, and so many Clergy and parishes, Maryland Episcopal Cursillo (MEC) continues to flourish and make a real difference in the lives of so many people.

We are very excited about the increased activity over the last few years and were blessed this year to have Bishop Sutton serve on his second Maryland Cursillo team, MD104, which was an all men's weekend. The team for MD105 is now being called, and plans are underway for the MD106 and 107 Cursillo weekends in 2014!

While our financial circumstances have remained a challenge, you have been faithful in your financial support. The money to support our Cursillo weekends comes solely from the generosity of the Cursillo community, and we have been blessed to have a community of such generous people. In order to ensure the future of our Cursillo movement and keep the momentum going, your continued support is critical. In 2012, we raised approximately $7,000 in donations, in part due to our direct stewardship appeal, and we are hopeful that we can raise another $7,000 this year. What a blessing that would be!

The Secretariat of The Maryland Episcopal Cursillo is committed to growing the movement, but to do so, we need a firm financial base. Think about what Cursillo has meant in your life. If you are able to help others experience the same, would you please consider a donation today to assist in that effort? A donation of $100 this summer, or such other amount as your circumstances may allow, would be appreciated - any amount, less or more, would be considered a blessing. For your convenience, we are including a self-addressed envelope. Please know that your donation is tax deductible for state and federal income tax purposes, and we will send you an annual statement.

In closing, I leave you with the words written by author Lily Hardy Hammond in 1916, "You don't pay love back; you pay it forward." We ask that you think about the love you experienced on your Cursillo weekend and in any way you are able, pass on the gift to others and "pay it forward" by contributing to the future of Maryland Episcopal Cursillo. Thank you for your continued support as we all follow our Lord's call in the coming year.

Your Sister in Christ,

Nancy
